NUDGE S. J. M. McCARRELL His Death the Second in Dauphin

County Court In Few Weeks Harrisburg, June 25,-(By A. P.) pinge S. J. M. McCarrell, of the Dau-phin County Courts, died at his home here early today, aged seventy-seven, after a long illness. This is the second vacancy caused by death on the Dau-phin county bench in the past month, president Judge George Kunkel having preceded his colleague of many years by less than three weeks,

Judge McCarrell was a native of Washington county, where he was born
October 19, 1842, the son of the Rev. October III. Alexander McCarrell, a Presbyterian Alexander He served, when a student minister. He served, when a student of Washington College, where he was later graduated, as a volunteer in the Civil War and afterward taught in Linsley Institute, Wheeling, W. Va. In 1806 he was admitted to the bar of Pership county and later became pro-Dauphin county and later became pro-minent in Republican politics. He served two terms as district attorney, two as United States district attorney from 1802 to 1900 in the state Senate. He was a delegate to a number of state and national conventions and in 1907 was elected additional law judge of Dauphin county. For more than forty years he was superintendent of the Market Square Presbyterian Sun-

Nothing could have fitted more perfectly with our plaus than the great price-lowering movement which has swept the country. Our Mr. A. Press, recently returned from Europe, had just completed many remarkable purchases of diamonds at very low prices in the principal European diamond centres, and they came through just in time to enable us to feature them in this big saie and thus add to our already great prestige as the greatest value-giving institution of its kind in fils city. This sale has produced a yest amount of business for our stores. And no wonder! Just look at the following analysis offers:

Sunoco is demonstrating daily to thousands of motorists the vast improvement proper engine lubrication makes in the performance of their cars. It has set a new standard of lubricating value—a standard by which all motor oils now must be judged.

of lubrication

Sunoco, because of its uniform quality and exclusive properties, fully meets the three fundamental requirements for proper engine lubrication.

Sunoco keeps an unbroken film of oil on all bearing surfaces at all speeds. This reduces friction to a minimum. Friction steals power, causes destructive wear, and rapidly increases depreciation.

Sunoco creates and maintains a proper piston ring seal. This prevents escape of gasoline past the piston rings with its resultant loss of power, waste of fuel and contamination of oil in the crank case.

Sunoco is free from elements that cause carbon deposit. This is because Sunoco is a wholly distilled product, not compounded, as is proven by the burning test. Sunoco is absolutely pure and uniform, every drop the same as every other drop. It eliminates carbon troubles.

Sunoco, in addition, is an absolutely neutral oil, being free from even a trace of acid that might cause pitting of the valves.

Why continue using just "oil" when you can obtain accurate and efficient lubrication? Begin using Sunoco at once and you will be amazed at the wonderful improvement in your car's performance.

Follow the "Sunoco Lubri cation Guide." It will tell you at a glance the type of Sunoco that exactly meets the lubricating requirements of your engine. All Sunoco dealers have this guide or we will send you a copy on request. Always be sure you get the right type of Sunoco.
